This serves as an abstract template for the 14th Asia Pacific Orchid Conference. All abstracts must be written in English. Authors are requested to adhere to this template including its font and margin settings. Abstracts that do not follow this template may not be accepted.

If using OpenOffice, please ensure that the Times New Roman font is installed, as OpenOffice may substitute it with a similar but incompatible font.

Your preference for the presentation format (oral / poster) should be listed at the top of the document. The final decision will be made by the Conference Scientific Committee.

The abstract title should begin with a capital letter followed by lowercase letters except where appropriate such as genus names and proper nouns; the title should be left-aligned.

Author names should be added below the title and left-aligned. Authors should have the first and last names spelt in full, with the middle name(s) abbreviated with full stops and spaces between, for example, Edred J. H. Corner. Use bold font for the presenting author's name; only one author can be indicated as the presenting author.

Affiliations should be indicated by superscript numbers to the right of each author's name, as such: Edred J. H. Corner <sup>1</sup>. Include the corresponding superscript number before the affiliated institute's name and left-align the line, as such: <sup>1</sup> Institute name, town/ city, state, country.

Abstract text should be limited to 300 words and the alignment justified.

Select up to six keywords and left-align the line after the abstract text.

Please email your abstract as a MS Word/OpenOffice file to the Conference Secretariat at apoc14\_conference@nparks.gov.sg. The abstract should be named with the presenting author's full name, separated by underscores, for example Henry_Nicholas_Ridley.doc.

Keywords: biodiversity, endangered species, ecosystem restoration, research, collaboration, native habitats
